

Challenges

Fuel bought outside the yard is the blind spot. Card transactions arrive days later with no proof the vehicle was ever at the pump, wrong-grade and oversized fills go unnoticed, and reconciling statements against fleet records is still a manual job.

Solution Overview

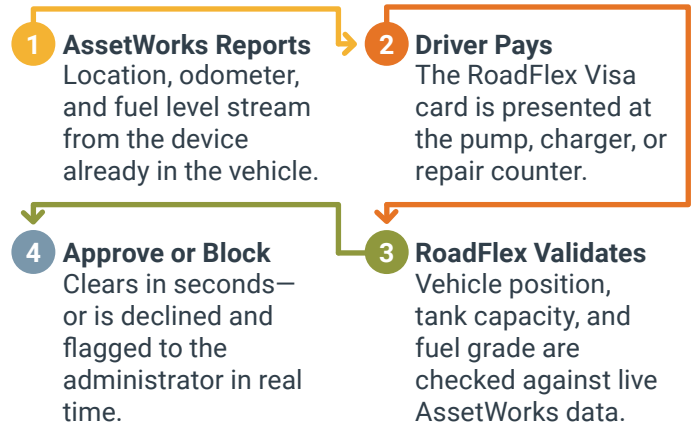

The AssetWorks + RoadFlex integration connects the telematics data your fleet already collects to a Visa fleet card at the moment of purchase. RoadFlex pulls live vehicle location, odometer, and fuel tank level from AssetWorks and validates every transaction before it is approved — confirming the right vehicle is at the pump, the fuel grade is correct, and the gallons will actually fit in the tank.

One card covers retail fueling, in-yard fueling, EV charging, maintenance, and other fleet expenses, accepted anywhere Visa is taken. The integration is API-based and pull-driven, so there is no new hardware to install and no second device in the vehicle — the AssetWorks telematics you already run is the data source.

Key Features

- Location validation — declines purchases made 100+ meters from the vehicle
- Fuel level validation — flags fills that exceed the vehicle's tank capacity
- Fuel type validation — prevents wrong-grade and premium purchases
- Retroactive fuel analysis — ties gallons purchased to miles actually driven
- Driver verification — SMS unlock ties the card to the driver's mobile device
- No new hardware — API-based integration with your AssetWorks telematics
- AI-powered fraud monitoring — 28+ types with real-time alerts
- Virtual cards — issued instantly to Apple Pay and Google Wallet
- Sourcewell contract — #030625-RDFX for public-sector procurement

How It Works

Benefits

Stop fraud at the pump

Suspicious transactions are blocked in real time using the vehicle location and tank data AssetWorks already reports.

One card, every fuel type

Retail fuel, in-yard fuel, EV charging, and maintenance purchases settle on a single card and a single statement.

Reclaim administrative time

RoadFlex reports its customer fleets cut administrative and finance work by more than seven hours per week.

Lower your cost per gallon

RoadFlex customers save up to 25¢ per gallon at partner sites, plus 1% back on non-fuel purchases.
